

Product Development

Robinair's emphasis on product development and investment in new technologies is directly related t

New products are tested in our in-house laboratory where we use an environmental chamber to simu

Sales and Marketing

Robinair's success is based in large part on a clear understanding of our customers' needs. Our sale

Robinair products are sold in two primary markets: heating/ventilating/air conditioning/refrigeration (H

Working with our independent sales representatives in the United States and Canada, we sell through

After-Sales Support

Once you buy Robinair, we back you with strong after-sales support. There's a toll-free Technical Sup

Internationally, support is provided by sales offices and distributors.

Manufacturing

Innovation is as important in building product as it is in designing it. The people who work at SPX/Ro

Manufacturing, assembly and shipping are done at the Owatonna, Minnesota facility. Whether compo

Like many industry leaders, we've instituted a quality assurance program that touches all aspects of t

WHO IS ROBINAIR?
Robinair Story

Robinair's position as a global leader in service tools and equipment is the result of evolution and rec

Robinair was founded in 1956 by the Kent-Moore Corporation of Warren, Michigan, to design and man

Material safety data sheet

Robinair

